Playroom Provided

Quite Play Area for Children

The supervised playroom is a fun place for kids of all ages to play while their parents are in sessions. We provide arts and craft activities including markers, crayons, glue and all the other messy things kids love. We offer board games, cards, puzzles, books, and building blocks as well. There will also be a TV/DVD player for children's movies and videos. Our volunteers, teenagers and adults, offer guidance and assistance with all of the activities.

One of the best things about the playroom is that kids of all ages get to interact with each other. Friendships are quickly formed. The younger kids look up to the older ones and the older ones enjoy being a younger child's new buddy. It's difficult to tell the "affected" children from the siblings. They all interact and form a mutual bond. This is often the first place the our children discover that they are not the "only one".

Children who require one on one attention should have an older sibling or adult remain with them in the playroom. Typically, this includes most children under the age of 3. All other children are expected to follow the main rule of "respecting others" and be able to follow directions. We ask that parents keep a cell phone on vibrate in case they are needed.
