“SEIZE THE OPPORTUNITY ...”
Contacting The Local Medical Community

INTRODUCTION

To the ASG Board of Directors

Before members of the Medical Community can refer their patients to your group, they must be made aware of the services that you are offering. They need to know about your Visiting Program, your periodic educational and peer led support meetings as well as the patient oriented publications that can be provided free of charge by UOAA. They need to know that through contact with members of your group who have experienced similar diseases and surgeries as their patients, they will adjust more positively to their bowel or urinary diversion and be able to see through the myths, stigmas and misinformation that surround ostomy surgery.

UOAA has prepared this Medical Community Contact Program (MCCP) manual as an instruction guide to assist you in “marketing” your ASG’s ostomy patient services. It is with high hopes that by utilizing the information presented on the following pages your ASG will be successful in forming an effective MCCP program.

Perhaps the most important aspect of starting a MCC Program in your group is the selection of your Representatives, the people who will be your “sales team”; those individuals who will be the “face” of your ASG. To get the right people can sometimes be difficult, and the process can be time consuming, but the results will be well worth the effort. Listed below are some of the qualities that the members of your MCC Program should possess:

The ASG Representatives Should:
- Believe in the goal of the UOAA and the local ASG ... the successful rehabilitation of all ostomates
- Have a pleasant, outgoing personality
- Be congenial, dignified, well-mannered and tactful
- Be able to relate comfortably to people
- Know the subject matter (Visiting Program and your group’s other services)
- Know when to talk and when to listen
- Know how to take rejection and be persistent
- Have some free time (or a flexible schedule) to devote to the program, perhaps 5+ hours a month
- There may be other individual qualities that should be looked for. If so, add those you think important.

Other Factors That Should Be Considered and Discussed

Since the position is an accountable one, ASG representatives should keep records and make periodic reports to your Board of Directors. The term of service should be at least two years with an option to renew the term. It is important that the ASG and its representatives have a cooperative and continuing relationship with its medical community. After you have selected these people to represent your ASG, present them with copies of this self-instruction reference manual to study.

SECTION 1

Overview of the Process

1. Understanding the Nature of Making The Contact:
   • Think of the medical community audiences (nurses, doctors, pharmacists, etc.) as “customers”. Since you want them to “buy” your group’s services you need to know what information and specific services will be of interest to them.
   • The notion of “selling” may seem out of place for your group’s work. But, remember that you are asking the medical community to take an interest in products and services (such as chapter literature and patient visiting) which they may not have used before. Thus, the ASG needs to demonstrate how these ASG services will be of benefit to their patients and make their job easier.

2. Knowing Your Audience:
   • Each type of audience you may contact (for example, nurse, doctor, pharmacist) has a different relationship with the ostomy or continent procedure patient or patient-to-be. Each one may need a different service or combination of services from your ASG.
   • Within a particular category (for example, doctors), the individuals may have different needs. In one hospital doctors may be able to call on a WOCN and in another hospital they may not. Thus, in looking at your audiences needs, look also at the resources they already have and the environment in which they work (big hospital vs. small hospital).

3. Knowing Your Members:
   • As with ASG visitors, certain characteristics of those making medical community contacts are particularly important to the success of this program.
   • Many personal attributes of the ASG Representative are similar to those who make a good visitor to patients:
     • Knowing the subject you are discussing.
     • Knowing when to talk and when to listen.
     • Relating comfortably to people.
     • Actively listening to make sure you understand and are responding to the person’s needs and not your own.
     • Accepting “rejection” of your offer of ASG services without taking it as a personal rejection or as a failed visit.
     • Knowing when/how to be assertive with the message but not pushy or rude.

Some Basic Steps

1. Identify the possible medical contacts available in your community.
   • Will you approach suppliers?
   • Hospital discharge planners?
   • Doctors? And what types of doctors—general surgeons, colo-rectal surgeons, gastroenterologists?
Contacting The Local Medical Community

2. Decide which contacts to reach sooner and which ones later.
   • Start by contacting physicians you already know
   • Contact WOCNs in area
   • Contact Hospitals, ones you or your members had surgery in
   • Reach out to local supply facilities that you or your members get supplies from
   • Contact the local CCFA office
   • Contact the local American Cancer Society office
   • Practice the process of making a contact.
   • What will you say when you first meet the contact?
   • What literature will you hand out?
   • Who do you ask to speak with in a physicians office?
   • How do you introduce yourself (as a representative of “name of ASG”)
   • What questions to ask
   • How often do they wish to receive information?
   • Will they be willing to hand out information / newsletters to patients?
   • Will they put newsletters in their waiting areas?

SECTION 2

Planning and Organizing

This section describes the basic steps to take as you plan and organize the Medical Community Contact Program. Select the contacts you want to concentrate on first.

1. Here are some of the ways of making this selection:
   • Some you or your members already know or that provide services you use.
   • Someone or organization well-known in your community.
   • Someone who can provide you references to others
   • Someone or organization, such as a pharmacy or local surgical supply company, not familiar with your ASGs services
   • An organization where you can contact more than one person during a visit (such as a hospital)
   • Someone who could affect others (the ripple effect); for instance, nursing students who when hired will share knowledge of ostomy and continent procedure services with others in their hospital or wherever they work
   • Practical matters such as the ability of a member to visit a medical contact.
     (Transportation; being available at the time needed to see the contact) and the contact’s general availability

2. When scheduling Visits to the Medical Community:
   • Make sure that efforts do not overlap, know what others are doing.
   • Make designated drop/contact people for each Medical facility.
   • If mailings are being utilized to get information to Medical facilities, ensure that there is a follow up call made, at least, quarterly.
   • If a mailing gets returned, contact and confirm address.
   • Ensure that each contact person is checking with the Medical Facility Contact to ensure a good time to stop into the office or building.

3. Making a call or Initial contact with Medical Personnel:
   • Create a personal presentation for each member of the Medical Community.
   • One will approach a Physician differently than a Nurse.
   • Pharmacists
   • Supply Companies
   • Local CCFA
   • Local American Cancer Society

NOTE: The discussions you will have with product suppliers and physicians and surgeons are somewhat different than the discussions you will have with the other contacts. As a result, the “What To Say” Suggestions for those calls will be found in their individual sections.
SECTION 3

“What to Say” Suggestions

1. There are many points you can make when “selling” the services of your ASG and the National UOAA.
   - Create that personal presentation to that particular individual. Add to these suggested procedures your own proven experiences.
   - Do not push too much information. Make two to four specific points on initial contact. The next time you contact this person review the points you made the first time, and then add another point or two.

2. Key points about the UOAA that should be amongst the first to be communicated are:
   - UOAA MISSION- The United Ostomy Associations of America is an association of affiliated, non-profit support groups who are committed to the improvement of the quality of life of people who have, or will have an intestinal or urinary diversion. It is dedicated to the provision of information, advocacy and service to and for its affiliated support groups, their members and the intestinal and urinary diversion community at large.
   - UOAA Vision- A society where people with ostomies and intestinal or urinary diversions are universally accepted and supported socially, economically, medically and psychologically.
   - Services of The UOAA and your ASG-
     - Advocacy—The UOAA is your voice in a national and local forum for issues dealing with healthcare, insurance, both private and public and discrimination issues. advocacy@uoaa.org
     - Educational Materials- The UOAA provides
       - Patient Guides online and in print, free to all.
       - DVD on “Living with an Ostomy”
       - Nursing Modules- provides basic ostomy care from patient experience base
       - Visitor Training
       - Awareness Campaigns
       - National Conferences
       - Discussion Board- The UOAA supports a website at www.ostomy.org that contains a wide variety of
         - Educational materials
         - Ads for the latest ostomy products
         - Discussion forums
         - Timely information pertaining to ostomy issues
         - Information about the latest ostomy supplies

- Support and announcements about the national organization
- Donation acceptance capabilities
- A calendar of upcoming events

- The Phoenix Magazine—The Phoenix is the official publication containing information from the United Ostomy Associations of America. Each issue is filled with success stories, helpful hints, a doctor and nurse’s column and what’s new in the ostomy world. Annual subscription is $25. Issues are published in December, March, June and September. Free trial issues are available. For more information call; 1-800-826-0826 or go to the website www.phoenixuoaa.org.

- Key points about the Local Affiliated Support Group (ASG) that should be amongst the first communicated:
  - Affiliated with the United Ostomy Associations of America. Offers ostomy and continent procedure information.
  - A newsletter, ensure to communicate how often it is offered.
  - Regular support group meetings for people with ostomies and continent procedures and their caregivers.
    - Communicate Dates, Times and Locations.
    - Communicate special functions
    - Communicate participation of group in community awareness.
    - Communicate Donation Closet if available.
  - Meetings feature:
    - Ostomy Supply Manufacturers
    - WOC Nurses, doctors and other related speakers.
    - Times of sharing
  - The exchange of knowledge, ideas and support shared at these meetings will greatly benefit the patient and their families.
  - The Visitor Program
    - The ASG visiting program is part of the rehabilitation team effort. Trained visitors support the doctor’s services to the patient and well as the WOC nurse and other nurse’s care and teaching.
    - Work with other members of the rehabilitation team including doctors, WOC nurse, discharge planners, suppliers, family and friends.
    - Describe the Visitor Program is the backbone of the local support group. Trained visitors will meet with pre and post surgical patients in the hospital and in the homes at the request of the patient.
    - Show the contact person a copy of the Visitor Training Manual and explain how visitors are trained.
    - Acquaint all the members of the medical community with the fact that
Contacting The Local Medical Community

your visiting program is free and all visitors are trained volunteer.

• The Visitor
  • Prerequisites for individual's selection as a ASG visitor is an acceptance of and adjustment to one's surgery, a successful completion of an approved visitor training program, a genuine commitment to helping others and a willingness to cooperate with professional contacts.
  • As a member of a team whose goal it is to help the patient return to health and activity the visitor provides help which cannot be duplicated. “We have been there”.
  • Our experienced and trained visitors have completed the UOAA Visitor Training Program and are qualified to offer the patient or patient-to-be educational and psychological support.
  • Please point out that your ASG has trained spouses and significant others as visitors if there are such within your group. Sometimes a trained couple will visit another couple.

• The Basic Functions of the ASG/Visitors:
  • Provide support to patients before and after surgery using our trained visitors.
  • Provide support both before they leave the hospital and after they return home.
  • Describe what life is like with an ostomy or continent procedure, how we live normally and offer management hints.
  • GIVE NO MEDICAL ADVICE!
  • Select a trained member of the ASGs visitor training program to visit a new patient or patient-to-be. This visitor is matched as nearly as possible by type of ostomy or continent procedure, gender, sexual orientation, age, marital status, occupation, avocation and other details of compatibility.
  • Explain the nature and purpose of the visit, including the difference in preoperative and postoperative visits.
  • Discuss the preference in seeing the patient before surgery.
  • Emphasize that we provide services to anyone in need and that the patient does not have to be a member of the ASG to receive services.
  • Offer a sympathetic ear.
Contacting The Local Medical Community

Involving The Medical Community

• Invite all members of the medical community to attend your local meetings. Ask if they would be willing to be a speaker at one of your meetings.
• Welcome them to monitor your ASG visitor training sessions and, possibly, help with the sessions.
• A possible introduction to offices of other physicians and surgeons can be a short letter of from your ASGs medical advisor(s) explaining the purpose of your visit.

Now use the next sections for suggestions on how to plan and make the actual visit.

SECTION 4

The Medical Community

Product Suppliers, Dealers and Pharmacies

1. General Comments:
   • Of all the calls you make, the suppliers may be the most cooperative and helpful. If the volunteer(s) are unfamiliar with the process of calling on individuals a supplier or pharmacy may be a good place to start.
   • Suppliers are an opportune place to start reaching out to the community.

2. Objectives and Purpose:
   • As a result of your contact the supplier will:
     • Understand your ASG and its services
     • Let you leave your local brochure and other literature and make them visible and available to their customers.
     • Inform customers of the ASG when they come in.

3. Suggested Procedure
   • The telephone:
     • If possible, call ahead of time:
     • Find out who is in charge of ostomy supplies
     • Talk to that person by phone stating the purpose of the call—“I am _____ and I represent the_______ ASG of the United Ostomy Associations of America. I would like to make an appointment with you to describe the group’s services and discuss how our ASG could be of help to you and your ostomy and continent procedure customers….We have a similar concern, supporting the patient”.
     • Arrange a convenient time to come in, for instance, when customers are few.
     • During the call find out what the supplier already knows about the ASG and the UOAA.
Contacting The Local Medical Community

• The mail:
  • If you are reaching out to a supplier who is out of your area, but may serve potential members within your area:
  • Send a letter with a sample of your newsletter and meeting schedule.
  • Ensure you inform them what your ASG is and what services you provide.
  • Cover the same issues/topics you would in a telephone conversation, only you are doing it in writing.
  • Follow up with them to ensure they received your letter.

• The Visit
  • Upon arrival ask to see the individual you talked with on the phone. If there was no pre-visit contact ask to see the owner or manager. Explain who you are and who you represent. Ask to speak to the person in charge of the ostomy supplies.
  • Describe briefly the purpose of your visit:
  • Acquaint the supplier with the ASG services available...”I am part of the team supporting ostomy and/or continent procedure patients. We can talk to them in unique ways since “we have one”. We know the proper supplies make a significant difference in being accepted and becoming well adjusted”.
  • Depending on how familiar the supplier is with the local group discuss such points as:
    • We provide support to people with ostomies or continent procedures both before surgery and after surgery using our trained volunteer visitors
    • We describe what life is like, how we live normally and hints for management.
    • WE GIVE NO MEDICAL ADVICE!
    • We work with other members of the rehabilitation team including physicians, WOC nurses, discharge planners and the families and friends of the patient.
    • We offer a newsletter and regular meetings for those people who have an ostomy or continent procedure and interested others.
    • The ASG is affiliated with the United Ostomy Associations of America which provides it’s member ASGs literature and other resources along with a “hotline” 1-800-826-0826 and website www.ostomy.org
    • Describe the ASGs visitor program. Write the visitor coordinator’s phone number down and leave some local ASG brochures.
    • Ask the supplier to call the coordinator if one of their customers needs assistance.
  • Ask the supplier if they have any questions about your ASG and it’s services. Leave a card with the name of your ASG, website if you have one and the phone number of your visitor coordinator and main contact for ASG.
Contacting The Local Medical Community

- Ask them to call when they run low of any literature you leave them.
- Thank them for leaving the literature in a prominent place near their ostomy supplies.
- Encourage the supplier to call your ASG if they have any questions.

Hospitals

1. General Comments:
   - The WOC Nurse may or may not be familiar with your ASG and your visitor and other services. It is important to find this out early in the contact in order to adapt your approach to the WOC Nurse.

2. Objectives:
   - As a result of your contact the WOC Nurse will:
     - Understand the services your ASG provides, particularly visiting services.
     - Know about literature available to patients.
     - Know how to reach your group for support to patients
     - Have their questions answered and their needs understood.
     - Provide the ASG contact member the names and locations of the Director of Nursing and the surgical floor nurses and if possible introduce the member to those nurses.

   - The Telephone call:
     The call is essentially the same as with all first phone calls to any potential contact. During the phone call find out how much the WOC Nurse has worked with your ASG and how familiar the nurse is with your services.
     - The Visit:
       - During the visit, if the WOC Nurse is familiar with your ASG and its services, this is the time to:
         - Have the WOC Nurse associate your name and face with the group's services. Personalizing your services in this way may increase the likelihood that the WOC Nurse will use the services your ASG provides.
         - Check to see if there are any additional services the WOC Nurse wants from your group including literature.
       - If the WOC Nurse is not familiar with your group's services then:
         - Create a personal presentation for this nurse using the WHAT TO SAY SUGGESTIONS then continue with the following:
         - Give the WOC Nurse copies of your local ASGs literature for providing to patients. The UOAA basic brochure can be used also.
         - Provide a card, which you have completed in advance, with the name of your ASG, the contact person/visitor coordinator and a contact phone number. Ask the WOC Nurse to call this number if one of their patients needs assistance.
Contacting The Local Medical Community

- Ask the nurse about putting you in touch with the Director of Nursing and surgical floor nurse so you can discuss your services with them. Ask if the nurse would like to make the contacts or if you should do so directly.
- Offer additional literature for this purpose.

In closing, let the WOC Nurse know that your ASG will be contacting the physicians and surgeons in the area to explain the group's visiting and other services to them. Ask the nurse for any suggestions on names you could contact and the best approach to use.

Director of Nursing and Surgical Floor Nurses

This section primarily describes ASG Representative contacts to hospitals without WOC Nurses.

1. General Comments:
   If the hospital you are calling on does not have a WOC Nurse the Director of Nursing and the surgical floor nurses become particularly important.
   - You will not need to call on the director as frequently as you do other hospital personnel. Perhaps every 4 to 6 months to say hello and to determine if you can help with any issues.

2. Objectives of the Contact and phone call
   These are essentially the same as with contacting the WOC Nurses.
   - Ask the Director of Nursing about putting you in touch with the surgical floor nurses so you can discuss your ASGs services with them.
   - Ask the Director about talking with the floor nurses individually or talking to the nurses during one of their in-service training sessions.
   - The in-service training session is probably the most practical way of talking to the surgical floor nurses but leave the decision up to the Director.
   - Inform the Director about the Nursing Modules and Experience based training offered through your ASG.
   - If talking at an in-service training is agreeable to the Director of Nursing
     - Ask the Director whom to talk to about arranging your participation in the training session. The person might be the Education Director or other some such title. Request about 30 minutes at one of their sessions to explain the patient visiting program and other services offered by your ASG.
   - If the Director is agreeable to the Nursing Modules, you will need to arrange for a longer period of time, dependent on the topics they wish to have covered.
   - Create a personal presentation for the Director of Nursing and/or surgical floor nurses using the “WHAT TO SAY” suggestions in SECTION 3. Variations will take place based partly on their previous experiences with visitors and with the number of patients they see.
Contacting The Local Medical Community

• Leave them copies of your ASGs literature to give to their patients. Provide them with a card with the name of your ASG, the contact person and visitor coordinator along with their phone numbers to call if one of their patients asks for assistance.

Discharge Planners and Social Workers

1. General Comments
   • The discharge planners or social workers can play a very important part in directing the discharged patient to your ASG, particularly if the hospital does not have a WOC Nurse.
   • They may be the bridge between individual as a patient and the individual leading a normal life. They are focused on helping the patient make that transition.
   • These individuals play an increasingly important part of the healthcare of patients in the care of patients.

2. Objectives and suggested Procedures: of the PHONE CALL and the Visit are essentially the same as the other contacts.
   • Ask if they know groups in the community who might be interested in hearing about your ASG’s services.

Physicians and Surgeons

1. General Comments
   • Of all the people you will be calling on in your medical community, the physicians and surgeons have the best opportunity to request a pre-operative visit for their patients as well as call for a visitor after surgery.
   • Due to Patient Privacy Laws, it is often required that a Physician write an order for a ‘visitor’ within a patients chart.

2. Objectives
   • Much the same as for other contacts within the Medical Community.
   • Contact person wants to ensure that they are concise, well rehearsed and take as little time as possible from the Physicians busy schedule.

3. Suggested Procedures—The Receptionist or Office Manager:
   • Make an appointment with the physician or surgeon either by phone or, preferably, by visiting the office of the doctor and personally talking with the receptionist or office manager.
   • Find out if either is familiar with your ASG services. Explain why you want to talk with the doctor. Ask about a convenient time to see the doctor. If the receptionist arranges a time, that is it, you are done.
   • The receptionist may not commit the doctor to a meeting time but may ask for any literature you have to show doctor or may offer to discuss your request with the doctor. A visit with the office manager may be the best contact to make in a doctor's office. They often have the discretion to see you and make an appointment with the doctor as they see fit.
Contacting The Local Medical Community

- THE SECOND TRY (sometimes it will take more than one attempt)
  - What do you do when the doctor will not see you at all?
  - Follow up with a letter thanking the doctor for considering use of the ASG’s services.
  - Mention the visiting program and mention the value of pre-operative visit and include your ASG’s basic brochure with the letter.
  - Mention the importance of support to the patient following surgery.
  - Mention understanding of their time and how your ASG can assist with the ‘Living With’ aspects as they assist with the ‘Medical Aspects’.
  - Mention that you work with the local hospital’s WOC Nurse, and what facilities you are in close relationship with the WOCNs.

Colo-Rectal, Pediatric and General Surgeons

1. General Comments:
   - When making contact with Pediatric Physicians, remember that they CANNOT give you any information, but can only give information about us to patients, not give patient information to us.
   - Encourage them to reach out to the parents of the minors.
   - Encourage them to inform parents about the local ASG as well as Youth Rally.

2. Objectives and Suggested Procedures: are essentially the same for making other contacts.
   - Ask the surgeon about their previous experience in working with an ostomy support group.
   - If the surgeon is not familiar with ostomy support groups or has not used former patients or other individuals for visiting new patients spend most of your time discussing the visitor program.
   - Discuss the Youth Rally and availability of programs for those of different ages:
     - Young Ostomy Diversions Alliance of America (YODAA)
     - Youth Rally www.rally4youth.org
     - 30+ Network
   - Review the nature of the program and spend less time if the surgeon is familiar with visitor support.
   - We provide support to people with ostomies and continent procedures before and after surgery using our trained visitors
   - We provide support both before a patient leaves the hospital and after they return home.
   - WE DO NOT GIVE MEDICAL ADVICE!
   - We work with other members of the healthcare team including other doctors, WOC Nurses, discharge planners suppliers, family and friends.
   - Point out to the surgeon your ASG has trained spouses as visitors also. Family members are undergoing their own stress at this time.
Contacting The Local Medical Community

• Leave the surgeon quantity of your basic brochure and extra copies of your newsletter to give to patients.
• Leave a Visitor Program card with the name of your ASG, the contact person (visitor coordinator) and their phone number.
• Describe the visiting program. You can also use the UOAA Visiting Program Manual.
• In describing the visiting process itself you can include such points as these:
  • Use of trained visitors
  • Matching visitor and patient with regard to type of surgery, sex and age
  • The nature of the visit, including the difference in pre-operative and post surgical visits
  • The preference for seeing the patient before surgery
  • It is possible the surgeon will not be able to talk with you and may refer you to their personal nurse or office manger. Depending on the individual circumstances, the nurse may turn out to be the person who will help influence the patient to have a visitor. Discuss with the nurse or office manger the same things you would have shared with the surgeon.
  • Use a “soft close” with these surgeons, such as:
    • “I hope you’ll have the occasion to use one of our trained visitors when the opportunity presents itself. Consider the pre-operative visit as I described it. If appropriate for the patient, it has many advantages for the patient. Call our ASG any time for a visitor or to request other services we provide. We want to help both you and your patients in any way possible”.

A final note:
Some doctors use their own former patients who have had similar surgeries as visitors. They know these people personally and have confidence that they will be helpful to their patients. If that is the case, acknowledge and accept the doctor’s choice. You can still point out, however, that if the doctor needs a special match by age, sex or by other characteristics or circumstances, your trained visitors are available. And if their former patients do not know about the local ASG and its services, the doctor can pass along that information or call us.

Gastroenterologists and Internists

1. General Comments:
  • For the most part, gastroenterologists and Internists will be treating patients with:
    • ulcerative colitis
    • familial polyposis (FAP)
    • Crohn’s disease.
    • cancer of the colon, rectum and bladder, but will refer the patients to the appropriate specialist or surgeon.
Contacting The Local Medical Community

• The colitis, FAP and Crohn’s disease patient may not respond to medical treatment and as a result, may become a candidate for surgery. These patients may be reluctant to have an ostomy or continent procedure visitor even though the doctors have told them that they will have an ostomy or related surgery. Some reasons might be:
  • The Visitor may remind them of the reality of the situation
  • The patient may fear how the Visitor will look and that the Visitor will confirm the patient’s worst imaginations.
  • The pre-operative patient may be too physically ill for a Visitor.
  • The pre-operative patient may be too depressed to engage with a visitor.
  • Some individuals do not want to share personal aspects of their life with others.
  • With this in mind, accept the refusal and do not persist.

2. Objectives and suggested procedures: are, essentially, the same as other contacts.

Visiting Nurses Associations and Home Health Agencies

1. General Comments:
  • The visiting nurse may ask the patient after they return home if they want a visitor. The visiting nurse provides a vital transition for the patient between hospital and home care and may be involved in the continuing care of the individual.
  • Many healthcare systems have their own home health care programs and some cities may have independent agencies that contract with various hospitals.

2. Objectives and the Suggested Procedures: are, essentially, the same as other contacts.
  • Ask the Director of Services to contact their community health nurses to arrange for you to talk with them individually or as an in-service training session. The in-service session is perhaps the most practical way of talking to this group.
  • If making a presentation during an in-service session is agreeable with the Director, ask whom to talk to about arranging your participation in the session.
  • Request about 30 minutes or so to explain the ASGs services to the patients i.e. the visiting program and other ASG services.
  • Inform them about the Nursing Modules and training on basic ostomy care, through an experience knowledge base and ask for time to provide a session.
  • Leave enough cards with name of your ASG and contact information for each of them. Ask the nurses to call your visiting coordinator if one of their patients would like to talk to a visitor.
  • Ask the nurse if they have any questions and allow time to address their specific needs. For example, if you have half an hour use no more than 15 minutes or even 10 minutes for what you have to say.
  • Most important, listen to the group’s needs and adapt your discussion accordingly.
Contacting The Local Medical Community

Allied Agencies:

American Cancer Society (ACS)
Crohn’s and Colitis Foundation Of America (CCFA), etc.

1. General Comments:
   - Many of the UOAA ASGs are quite involved with their local or Division offices of the ASC and the CCFA among other healthcare organizations.
   - Contact the local or regional Executive Director to find out what person would be best to make the contact with.
   - The ACS has one or more staff person who works with patient education.
   - The CCFA usually has an Education chairperson on their Board of Directors with a supporting office staff person.

2. Objectives and Suggested Procedure: would be the same as making contact with a medical professional.
   - It is suggested you ask to be involved with any education seminars or health fairs sponsored by any of these organizations. An exhibit table would be appropriate.

Wound Ostomy and Continent Nurses Society

This is the Official name of the organization that a certified WOC or ET nurse belongs to.
   - The WOCN is divided into several regions and each holds a regional conference or seminar annually in their respective region.
   - Find out through their website www.wocn.org when their regional conferences are held and who their local chairperson is.
   - Contact this person and ask if you may have an exhibit table at their regional conference.
   - This is an excellent way to meet many of your regions nurses. Contact the UOAA and see if they plan to participate in any of the WOCN regionals.

Teaching Institutions
Pharmacy, Nursing and Medical Schools

1. General Comments:
   As these calls are directed to students in the health professions, they are “future oriented”. That is, the students may apply the information you provide more in their career ahead of them than at present. On the other hand, students in medical, nursing and pharmacy schools will carry their knowledge of individuals with ostomies and continent procedures and their services provided through the local ASG to their jobs and hopefully share the word with others.
   - These contact calls should be made yearly.
Contacting The Local Medical Community

2. Objectives of the Contact are essentially the same as other contacts.
   • Start by calling the Dean's office of the school. Explain who you are and who you represent and explain your desire to visit the appropriate classes.
   • If the Dean's office agrees to your request, ask for direction in how to proceed.
   • You’ll likely be talking to students in a classroom setting.
   • In arranging to attend a class meeting work with the instructor on where the students are in their studies:
     • what they know about these types of surgeries.
     • how much time you will be given and so forth.
     • go in knowing your audience.
     • Share with the students the essence of the services available from your ASG.
     • Allow a good amount of time for questions in order to address their specific needs. They will probably be most interested in how to manage day to day, psychological adjustments after surgery and how they can better relate to the patients they care for.
     • Most important, listen to the group’s needs and adapt your discussion accordingly.

Government Medical Facilities, Veterans Administration Medical Centers and Clinic

1. General Comments
   • The Veteran's Administration (VA) operates both medical centers (Hospitals) and clinics (Outpatient).
   • These institutions may or may not have a WOC Nurse on staff.
   • The volume of ostomy or continent procedure patients will vary from center to center.
   • Call the clinic or center and ask if a WOC Nurse is on staff.
   • If the medical center does not have a WOCN on staff, call the Nursing Director and make an appointment to visit in person.

2. Objectives and the Suggested Procedure: is, essentially, the same as other contacts.
   • You can also contact the Chief of the Veteran's Administration Voluntary Services.
   • Call and introduce yourself and make an appointment to visit in person. Ask this person to introduce your ASGs visitors to the appropriate VA personnel they should see.
   • This person can also assist the visitor in proper VA procedures.

Public Health Departments (City, County and State)

1. General Comments:
   - The procedures at the public health departments run by the city, county and state are varied.
   - Your contact approaches will vary. One of the tasks will be to find out what these procedures may be.

2. Objectives and Suggested Procedures: will be, essentially, the same as other contacts. NOTE: More than likely you will be contacting the Medical Director of these agencies. Find out if they are familiar with your ASG. If the Director feels that someone else should talk to you, find out who and ask if the Director will introduce you to that person(s) or if you should make a direct contact.

Retirement Homes, Assisted Living and Nursing Homes

1. General Comments:
   - While these facilities may have few people with ostomies or continent procedures those residents may have limited contact with a WOCN or other health care professionals who work with these types of patients.
   - The residents may also be limited in their ability to access support groups, such as attending local ASG meetings. Your contact at these facilities is likely to be the Director of Nursing.

2. Objectives and Suggested Procedures: are, essentially, the same as other contacts.
   - Doing an in-service for the facility nurses may be a good way to make the facility staff familiar with the support and services of your ASG.
   - Inform the Director of Nursing about the Nursing Modules and that your ASG can demonstrate an experience based knowledge base to the staff.

SUMMARY

This guide is designed to give you an insight as to how to facilitate a program that will be successful within your ASG. Each group is individual and each community has its own individual style. Please incorporate this guidebook to best fit your community and membership in its endeavor to reach out to the Medical Community.

1. The Main goals of this guide are to:
   - Have the medical community understand the benefits of your ASG’s visiting program and to recommend a visit for their patients.
   - Inform different aspects of the medical community about your ASG, the UOAA and the services provided.
Contacting The Local Medical Community

• Ensure that patients are aware of the support out there and that we are here to provide that to them
• The word to remember in all your contacts is tact. You need to get a foot in the door to sell the visiting services. Once inside, you need to continue in a professional manner and approach in discussing the ASG’s services.
• Things to Never incorporate into a contact with the Medical Community are:
  • Use of the word “Club” when referring to your ASG!
  • Negative references such as ‘bag’ or other slang.
  • Do NOT be pushy. If turned away, try again in a couple of months.
  • Maintain personal and direct communications with your medical community contacts. Once you have built a relationship it becomes easier to make a call in six months to say “How are things going? Are you satisfied with our visiting program? Is there anything I can do to further help?”
• To achieve success in the program, hard work and perseverance are needed.
• What is successful with one medical community area may not be so for another. Thus the importance of listening to your “customers” in order to understand their needs is essential. One size does not fit all. Our program works because those using it see its value—to them and to their patients.
• Add to the suggested procedures your own experience which has worked.
• A program of this importance also have accountability to make it work and continue:
  • You, as a ASG Representative, are accountable to your ASG leaders and making reports at regular intervals.
  • Use the Report Form and make copies of this form to use in your reporting.
  • Each member of the Medical Community Contact Program are to be held responsible for making the follow-up contacts to the medical community.
  • If contacts are not able to be made, then one needs to reach out to others to facilitate the follow-up calls.
